INFORMATION ABOUT CALIFORNIA SCHOOL SYSTEM.

Department of Education.

The State Department of Education consists of the State Board of Education and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who is ex officio director of the Department.

State Educational Institutions.

All the state educational institutions, excepting the University of California and the Southern Branch of the University of California, are administered by the State Department of Education through its director.

Experts of the Department of Education.

The Department of Education employs the following experts: A Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, an Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction in charge of statistics and foreign language schools, an Assistant Superintendent for Americanization work, a Supervisor of School Attendance, a Deputy Director of Education, three Commissioners of Education (a Commissioner of Elementary Schools, a Commissioner of Secondary Schools and a Commissioner of Vocational Training), and a Supervisor of Physical Education.

Duties of the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction superintends the schools of the state, makes a report of school activities to the Governor, recommends legislation, advises school officers, promotes the state's educational interests, apportions the state school funds, distributes the state textbooks, is ex officio secretary and executive officer of the State Board of Education, ex officio secretary of the Teachers' Retirement Salary Fund Board, Regent of the University of California, and Director of the Department of Education. He prepares and distributes official blanks, and other printed material for use of school officers, and compiles and distributes to school officers those laws which relate to schools, and manages the educational institutions over which the Department of Education has supervision.

Duties of the State Board of Education.

The State Board of Education issues life diplomas on the recommendation of the county boards of education. It also issues credentials recommending that the holder receive from a county board of education, high school, junior high school, elementary school, kindergarten-primary, kindergarten-extension, and special certificates. It authorizes the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Commissioners to act as a Commission of Credentials. It adopts and publishes state textbooks, directs educational investigations, and prescribes a standard for institutions training high school, junior high school, elementary school, special and kindergarten teachers. It prescribes courses of study and standards for graduation from State Teachers Colleges, and approves courses of study for high and junior high schools. It acts in ex officio capacity as the Teachers' Retirement Salary Fund Board and the Board for Vocational Education.

The main office of the State Board of Education is 711 Forum Building, Sacramento. However, the Board maintains a branch office at Los Angeles, address 812 Pacific Finance Building. All letters of inquiry and requests for printed matter should be addressed to the main office at Sacramento, which is the headquarters of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Commissioners and other representatives of the Board.

Duties of the Commissioners.

The Commissioners assist in supervising education in the state under the direction of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and the State Board of Education. They also act as expert advisers to the State Board of Education regarding certification of teachers, courses of study and standard of graduation from teachers' colleges, selection of textbooks for use of the elementary and high schools, and other educational matters.

The Commissioner of Elementary Schools visits and inspects the elementary schools throughout the state and advises with school authorities in matters relating to their administration. She also conducts investigations attendant upon the selection of textbooks for elementary schools.

The Commissioner of Secondary Schools visits and inspects the high schools, junior high schools and junior colleges of the state, and also investigates the courses of study for secondary schools and recommends their approval or disapproval to the State Board of Education. He recommends to the State Board the listing of textbooks to be purchased by the high school boards for use in the high schools.

The Commissioner of Vocational Education visits and inspects all public schools giving instruction in pre-vocational or vocational education. He is also required by law to administer the act for the vocational rehabilitation of injured persons. The State Board of Education has also placed him in charge of the administration of the Federal and State Vocational Education acts. Subject to the direction of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, he also visits and inspects the public schools of the state and confers with school officials on matters of educational policy.

Under the supervision of the Commissioner of Vocational Education are: The State Supervisor of Teacher Training Courses in Home Economics, The State Supervisor of Trade and Industrial Instruction, the State Supervisor of Agricultural Instruction, the State Supervisor of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Other School Officials.

The county superintendent of schools superintends the schools of the county, apportions school moneys, approves school orders, issues temporary certificates, conducts county institutes and acts as the secretary of the county board of education.

The county board of education grants and revokes teachers' certificates, makes the course of study for the county elementary schools, conducts examinations of candidates for elementary school certificates when such candidates do not possess credentials recognized by law, approves library and supplemental books, and issues diplomas of graduation from the elementary schools.

The board of trustees in rural schools employs teachers and janitors, builds schoolhouses and manages the schools. One of their number acts as clerk and executive officer. The city board of education performs similar duties for the city. Each city employs a city superintendent who supervises the schools of the city. In most instances he acts as executive officer of the city board of education. District superintendents are sometimes employed in larger towns.

Public Schools. The public school system embraces the kindergartens (for children from 4½ to 6 years of age); elementary schools, usually including eight years or grades of work; high schools, including grades 9 to 12; junior colleges, including grades 13 and 14, equivalent to the first two years of college; junior high schools, comprising grades 7, 8 and 9 or grades 7, 8, 9 and 10; evening elementary and high schools, vocational schools, classes for the deaf in some of the cities, the seven State Teachers Colleges, and the State University located at Berkeley, with a Southern branch at Los Angeles.

Teacher Training. Teachers Colleges as listed below are maintained for the training of regular kindergarten, elementary and junior high school teachers. Training for high school teachers of special subjects is also provided at the Teachers Colleges. Information regarding any of the Teachers Colleges will be furnished by the president on request.

State Teachers College of Chico.....	C. M. Osenbaugh, President
State Teachers College of Fresno.....	C. L. McLane, President
State Teachers College of San Diego.....	Edward L. Hardy, President
State Teachers College of San Francisco.....	Frederic Burk, President
State Teachers College of San Jose.....	W. W. Kemp, President
State Teachers College of Santa Barbara.....	C. L. Phelps, President
Humboldt State Teachers College, Arcata.....	N. B. Van Matre, President

Training for high school teachers is given in five-year courses by the accredited colleges and universities of the state. Teacher training is also the principal function of the Southern Branch of the State University at Los Angeles.

Other State Schools. Other state schools are the California Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo; the School for the Deaf and the School for the Blind at Berkeley; and schools of a reformatory nature at Whittier, Ione and Ventura.

Nonstate Universities and Colleges. Nonstate universities and colleges are: Leland Stanford Junior at Stanford University; Pomona College, at Claremont; Occidental College, at Los Angeles; California School of Technology, at Pasadena; and Mills College (for women), at Mills College. There are also the following four-year denominational colleges:

- University of Redlands, Redlands (Baptist);
- University of Southern California, Los Angeles (Methodist);
- University of Santa Clara, Santa Clara (Catholic);
- Pacific Union College, St. Helena (Advent);
- St. Mary's College, Oakland (Catholic);
- St. Ignatius University, San Francisco (Catholic);

College of the Pacific, San Jose (Methodist);
Whittier College, Whittier (Friends).

The presidents or secretaries of any of these institutions will furnish information on request.

State Technical and Agricultural Schools. The Davis Farm School, connected with the State University, is located at Davis. For information concerning the school address the Dean of the Davis Farm School, Davis, California. The California Polytechnic School, San Luis Obispo, offers technical, agricultural and home economics courses, being equipped with several modern shops, a boys' dormitory, and operating on a practical basis a large well stocked farm.

Number of Teachers and Pupils. The number of teachers for the school year 1920-1921 was:

Kindergarten (about).....	790
Elementary (about).....	16,417
High (about).....	6,542

In the elementary schools, slightly more than 7 per cent of the teachers are men; in the secondary schools about 39 per cent are men.

The number of pupils enrolled for the school year 1920-1921 was as follows:

Kindergartens (about).....	36,796
Elementary (about).....	543,568
High (about).....	195,667
Total (about).....	776,031

Financial Support of Education. The University of California is supported by grants from the state treasury, by its income from endowment, by grants from the federal government for agricultural education, by gifts, and by miscellaneous fees. The state grants amount to about $2,730,000 annually and the federal grants amount to about $160,000 annually. The total annual income of the University is about $5,900,000.

The Teachers Colleges and the California Polytechnic School are supported by grants from the state treasury.

The high schools are supported jointly by state, county and district. The state appropriates annually $30 per pupil in average daily attendance, and the county a minimum of $60 per pupil in average daily attendance. In addition to state and county support, the district may levy a tax not exceeding 75 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation.

Toward the support of the elementary schools, the state appropriates annually $30 per pupil in average daily attendance. The counties are required by law to raise $700 per teacher or not less than $30 per pupil in average daily attendance. In addition, the districts may levy a tax for maintenance. The kindergartens are supported by district taxation, each district being authorized to levy a kindergarten tax not exceeding 15 cents on each $100 of assessed valuation.

School Terms. The term of school varies from 8 to 10½ months per year, averaging 9 in elementary schools and 9½ in high schools. All public schools must be in session for at least 160 days. The term usually begins in September and closes in May or June, although there are many exceptions in the mountains and along the coast. The cost of board and room ranges from $40 to $80 per month, averaging about $50. The teacher must be a citizen or must have made declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States.

Teachers' Certificates. Except for teachers who obtain by examination from a county board of education an elementary certificate, all teachers in California must hold (1) a credential authorized by the State Board of Education, and (2) a certificate issued by a California county board of education. Temporary certificates may be issued by county superintendents of schools, only to holders of valid credentials. Temporary certificates expire on June 30th or December 31st next following the date of issuance. No person shall be entitled to receive a temporary certificate more than once in the same county. The temporary certificate requires no fee. Eight kinds of certificates are issued by county boards of education: High School, Junior High School, Elementary, Special, Kindergarten-Primary, Kindergarten-Extension, Supervisor of Attendance, and Health and Development certificates, each requiring a two dollar fee before issuance. If a certificate is granted on a credential which is for a limited period only, such certificate can not be valid for a period of time greater than that specified in the credential. Any certificate granted to a candidate who has not had at least one year of experience in teaching shall not be valid for more than two years, but such certificate may be renewed. Certificates valid for six years may be granted to persons who have had one or more years of teaching experience.

High School Certificates. A bulletin on High School Certification will be mailed by the Commission of Credentials at Sacramento. A high school certificate entitles the holder thereof to teach in any junior college, high school, junior high school or elementary school in the county. High school certificates may be granted on the basis of high school credentials issued by the State Board of Education, or to holders of high school certificates issued by any county, or city and county board of education in California. Teachers in junior colleges, which are part of the high school system, must hold high school certificates.

Junior High School Certificates. Junior high school certificates may be issued by the county board of education upon credentials issued by the State Board of Education to the applicant who has completed 3½ years of college or normal school work in addition to a four-year high school course, and has taught successfully for 17 months, or to an applicant who holds a Bachelor's Degree from a standard college or university, and has completed 15 prescribed units of education. Bulletin 10 J-H containing full information regarding the issuance of these credentials will be sent upon application to the Commission of Credentials.

Elementary School
Certificates on Credentials.

Elementary school certificates may be issued by the county board of education upon diplomas from California State Normal Schools, California State Teachers Colleges when accompanied by a credential issued by the State Board of Education, and diplomas of normal schools or teachers colleges found on the accredited list prepared by the State Board of Education, diplomas of the University of California or other universities accredited by the State Board of Education for high school certification, if the holder has taught successfully for eight months or has completed twelve units of pedagogy under state board regulations, upon credentials of elementary grade issued by the State Board of Education, or upon valid elementary school certificates of any county or city and county of California, if the holder has had eight months of successful teaching experience in that county. The holder of a California life diploma may teach in the county after recording the diploma with the county superintendent of schools.

A bulletin giving lists of accredited normal schools and teachers colleges, and other information concerning elementary and kindergarten certification upon credentials may be obtained upon request from the Commission of Credentials at Sacramento, or a copy may be seen at the office of the nearest county superintendent of schools.

An elementary special certificate, issued upon a State Board credential or upon a credential issued by authority of the State Board of Education subsequent to August 21, 1915, entitles the holder to teach the special subject in the ninth grade of any junior high school.

Elementary School
Certificates on Examination.

Elementary School Certificates may also be issued by the county board of education upon examination. Examinations are usually held in June and December, and in the following subjects: Reading, English grammar and composition, English and American literature, spelling and defining, penmanship, drawing, vocal music, bookkeeping, arithmetic, algebra to quadratics, plane geometry, geography (physical, political and industrial), physiology and hygiene, history of the United States, civics, history (ancient, medieval and modern), school law, methods of teaching and one of the following: elementary physics, elementary chemistry, biology. Candidates must present evidence that they have completed a four-year high school course or the equivalent thereof, or show that they have had four years of successful experience in teaching. These examinations vary somewhat in the different counties, as each county is a law unto itself in details. Usually the examinations occupy from three to five days of time, but there are some exceptions. Each applicant pays a fee of $2.00. Detailed information regarding time, place and rules, may usually be obtained from the county superintendent of schools upon request.

Special Certificates. Special certificates of elementary or secondary grade may be issued by the county board of education to holders of credentials approved by the State Board of Education or to holders of special credentials issued by the State Board of Education. Bulletin No. 10-S, giving more particular information, will be furnished upon request by the Commission of Credentials.

Kindergarten-Primary Certificates. The county board of education may grant Kindergarten-Primary Certificates only upon credentials. Such certificates entitle the holders to teach kindergarten classes, and, under certain conditions, the first grade. Credentials that may be recognized are Kindergarten-Primary Certificates issued by county boards of education of California, diplomas from the kindergarten department of a California state normal school or teachers college, diplomas from accredited kindergarten training schools and Kindergarten Credentials issued by the State Board of Education.

Kindergarten-Extension Certificates. The county board of education may grant Kindergarten-Extension Certificates upon credentials issued only by the California State Board of Education. Such certificates entitle the holders to teach kindergarten classes, and, under certain conditions, the first three grades.

Certificates for Supervisors of Attendance. County boards of education may issue certificates for Supervisors of Attendance to holders of special credentials therefor issued by the State Board of Education.

Health and Development Certificates. Health and Development Certificates may be granted by the county boards of education to holders of certificates to practice medicine and surgery issued by the California State Board of Medical Examiners, or to holders of California life diplomas or special credentials in physical education granted by the State Board of Education, or to holders of certificates to practice dentistry issued by the California State Board of Dental Examiners, or to holders of certificates to practice optometry, issued by the California State Board of Optometry, or to holders of certificates of registration as nurses, issued by the California State Board of Health, only when such certificates are accompanied by a special credential issued by the State Board of Education showing special fitness and training for health supervision of pupils. Such persons must hold certificates in order to work in the schools.

Life Diplomas. Life diplomas may be issued to applicants who have successfully taught in public schools for 48 months, 21 of which have been in California public schools. Application must be made through county boards of education.

Teachers' Institutes. Each county superintendent of schools conducts a county teachers' institute each year, at such time, in such manner, and with such instructors as he chooses. All teachers employed in the county are required to be present and to take part in the proceedings. Teachers' salaries are paid during the period of attendance.

Trustees' Institutes. County superintendents of schools, in counties containing more than twenty school districts, may hold annual trustees' meetings, and it is the duty of one trustee from each district, selected by his board, to attend. Such meetings continue in session for one day; trustees attending are allowed actual traveling expenses for the trip caused by attendance.

Teachers' Retirement Salary Law. The teachers' retirement salary law was passed by the legislature of 1913. It provides that teachers of thirty years' experience, fifteen of which have been in California public schools, may retire upon a salary of $500 per year. Provision is also made for retirement upon incapacity for further school service with the limitation that fifteen years of teaching must have been done in California public schools.

The necessary funds are provided by deducting one dollar from the working teachers' salaries each month, and the transfer to this fund of five per cent of the collections from the state inheritance tax.

State Textbooks for Elementary Schools. California state textbooks for elementary schools are printed at the state printing office, and are distributed by the state free of cost or any charge whatever to the schools for the use of all children attending the public day and evening elementary schools of the state. The textbooks are adopted by the State Board of Education, and must continue in use for a period of not less than four years. Plates are leased from the publishers at royalties ranging from 1 cent to 15 cents per copy for each book distributed, or manuscripts are purchased outright from the authors. This system of free textbooks has been in effect since January, 1913.

Textbooks for High Schools. Textbooks for high schools are adopted by local high school boards from a list prescribed by the State Board of Education. They are furnished to the pupils by the high school districts without charge. For an approved list of high school textbooks, address the Commissioner of Secondary Schools, Sacramento.
